SESSION-2022-2023

1. Online Quiz on Environmental Awareness on the occasion of the World Environment Day 2022

Report: In order to raise awareness of environmental issues and encourage sustainability, Jhargram Raj College hosted an online quiz on environmental awareness on World Environment Day 2022. With 50 questions covering subjects including pollution, biodiversity, and climate change, the quiz attracted over 110 participants, both students and teachers. Eco-friendly gift baskets and certificates of achievement were given to the top ten achievers. Certificates of participation were given to each participant. The event was well-received and effectively increased public awareness of environmental issues. In summary, the quiz proved to be an effective tool for raising community awareness of environmental issues and sustainable practices.

2. Observation of International Yoga Day

Report:

In honour of International Yoga Day on June 21, 2022, Jhargram Raj College hosted a number of activities designed to raise awareness of the mental, physical, and spiritual advantages of yoga. The occasion, which was free for teachers, students, and the neighbourhood, focused on how crucial it is to incorporate yoga into daily life for overall well being. At 7:00 AM, our qualified yoga instructor offered a group yoga practice to kick off the celebration. A variety of asanas (postures), pranayama (breathing exercises), and meditation techniques were practiced by the participants. The lesson stressed the subject of International Yoga Day 2022, which is "Yoga for Humanity," emphasising the benefits of yoga for stress management and general health enhancement. About 30 people attended the event, comprising community members, teachers, and pupils. The class was held in the main courtyard of the establishment, which offers a calm and comfortable setting for yoga. Positive comments were given by the attendees, who praised the session's reviving and relaxing qualities. Numerous individuals emphasised the significance of integrating yoga into their everyday regimens to improve their emotional and bodily well-being. The International Yoga Day celebration at Jhargram Raj College was a huge success, promoting wellbeing and a sense of community among attendees. The occasion served as further evidence of yoga's effectiveness as a means of improving one's own well-being and harmony.

In honour of World AIDS Day, Jhargram Raj College hosted a programme on December 1st, 2022, in cooperation with the NSS unit. The event's objectives were to increase community and student knowledge of HIV/AIDS prevention strategies, increase awareness of HIV/AIDS, and foster support for individuals who are HIV positive. The principal gave the opening address at 10:00 AM, highlighting the significance of World AIDS Day and the role that educational institutions play in raising awareness. Dr. Bhuvan Chandra Hansda, Chief Medical Officer of Jhargram, Jhargram District Super Speciality Hospital, gave a presentation after the principal's speech in which he went into great detail about the causes, progression, and prevention of HIV/AIDS. In addition, Dr. Indranil, Sarkar, Superintendent, Jhargram District Super Speciality Hospital, debunked prevalent misconceptions about the illness and talked about the most recent developments in medical care. The NSS volunteers performed a play that illustrated the social stigma experienced by people living with HIV and underlined the importance of empathy and support after the educational session. The audience was deeply affected by the well-received skit, which reinforced the theme of empathy and comprehension. An interactive quiz competition on HIV/AIDS awareness was arranged in order to better engage the students. The purpose of the quiz was to assess and improve the participants' understanding of the illness. Students were encouraged to participate actively and with passion as a result of the winners receiving certificates and prizes. More than 40 people, including students, teachers, and community members, attended the World AIDS Day programme, which was a great success. The community's understanding and knowledge of HIV/AIDS have greatly increased as a result of Jhargram Raj College and the NSS unit's cooperative efforts. The incident served as further evidence of the value of compassion, knowledge, and preventative actions in the fight against HIV stigma and transmission. The NSS coordinator, Souvick Biswas, thanked each and every volunteer and participant for their efforts and dedication to making the event successful. The college is eager to carry on the fight against HIV/AIDS by hosting additional events like this in the future.

4. International Mother Language Day

Brief Report:

On February 21st, 2023, Jhargram Raj College celebrated International Mother Language Day to promote linguistic and cultural diversity. The event began with an inaugural speech by the principal, emphasising the importance of preserving mother tongues and the historical significance of the day. Dr. Dipankar Mondal, Head of the Department, Bengali, delivered a speech on the challenges faced by indigenous languages and the role of educational institutions in their preservation. This was followed by cultural performances showcasing the linguistic diversity of our college community, including songs, dances, and poetry recitations in various native languages. Participants in a multilingual poetry competition recited poems in their native tongues, including Alchiki. The principal gave awards and certificates to the winners. In addition to thanking everyone who attended and the organisers, the Cultural Secretary, Sujan Pramanik, reaffirmed the college's dedication to supporting linguistic variety. With more than 40 participants—students, faculty, and community members—the event was a huge success and got great reviews for its interesting and culturally enlightening activities.

A Spoken English course was successfully held by the English Department of Jhargram Raj College from March 1st to April 30th, 2023. The goal of the course was to help students become more proficient speakers of English, more confident, and better communicators in both formal and informal contexts. On August 2nd, the Head of the English Department welcomed the participants and gave an overview of the course goals during the first session. The course incorporated interactive lessons, hands-on activities, and practice in real-world conversations in order to accommodate students with different levels of ability. The courses were led by seasoned faculty members, who concentrated on important topics such as conversational skills, grammar, vocabulary development, and pronunciation. Through role-playing exercises, group debates, and presentations, students were able to get practical experience in learning. Regular assessments and one-on-one meetings were held to track development and offer tailored feedback. Additionally, guest lectures from professionals in the field were scheduled to provide students with an understanding of the value of effective communication in work settings. During the certificate distribution ceremony on April 30th, the English Department's efforts and the students' active engagement were commended by the Principal, Dr. Debnarayan Roy. A certificate of completion was given to each participant, attesting to their commitment and growth in spoken English. Students gave the Spoken English course positive comments, noting that they valued the supportive learning environment and the engaging teaching methods. The English Department intends to host more classes of this kind in the future to keep raising the college community's level of language proficiency.

Report: The one-day International Symposium on Frontiers in Sciences, organised by Jhargram Raj College, was highly successful in gathering distinguished scholars, researchers, and students to examine and deliberate on the latest advancements in many scientific domains. The symposium commenced with an inaugural session graced by distinguished speakers, including Professor Sushil Kumar Mahata from the School of Medicine, University of California. His keynote address set the tone for the day, emphasising the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration in advancing scientific frontiers. The event featured a diverse range of topics covered by renowned experts:

- Professor Pabitra Kumar Chakraborti, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor of Vidyasagar University, delivered a thought-provoking talk on multiferroic behaviour of some materials.
- Professor Amiya Kumar Panda, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor of Sadhu Ramchand Murmu University, shared insights into green synthesis of silver nanoparticles.

An integral part of the symposium was the poster presentation session, where researchers and students showcased their work and engaged in lively discussions with peers and senior researchers. The posters covered a wide array of research themes, highlighting the breadth and depth of scientific inquiry being pursued within the academic community.

The symposium also provided a platform for young researchers and students to interact with established scholars, gaining valuable insights and feedback on their research endeavours. This exchange of ideas and perspectives was particularly enriching for all participants, contributing to the overall academic atmosphere of the event.

In conclusion, the International Symposium on Frontiers in Sciences was a testament to the spirit of academic inquiry and collaboration. It not only showcased the latest

❖ "Beginners' Bioinformatics"

Report:

Beginners Bioinformatics

Jhargram raj college organized a webinar titled "Beginners' Bioinformatics" aimed at introducing participants to the basics of bioinformatics and its applications in biological research.

Objectives

- Introduction to Bioinformatics: Provide an overview of bioinformatics and its role in analyzing biological data.
- Tools and Techniques: Introduce participants to commonly used bioinformatics tools and techniques.
- Applications: Discuss real-world applications of bioinformatics in genomics, proteomics, and molecular biology.
- Career Opportunities: Highlight career paths and opportunities in bioinformatics.

Key Highlights

- Fundamentals of Bioinformatics: Overview of biological databases, sequence alignment, and data analysis.
- Bioinformatics Tools: Introduction to tools such as BLAST, CLUSTALW, and NCBI databases.
- Case Studies: Present case studies showcasing bioinformatics applications in areas like genome sequencing and protein structure prediction.

❖ A virtual “Community Awareness Programme” on “Eradicate cancer and Healthy Lifestyle”

Report

Jhargram Raj College conducted a virtual Community Awareness Programme titled “Eradicate Cancer and Healthy Lifestyle.” The programme aimed to educate the community about cancer prevention and promote healthy lifestyle choices.

Objectives

- Increase awareness about cancer prevention and early detection.
- Educate participants on the importance of a healthy lifestyle in reducing cancer risk.
- Provide practical tips for maintaining overall health and wellness.

Participation and Format

The virtual event saw enthusiastic participation from community members, healthcare professionals, and students. The programme included informative presentations, interactive Q&A sessions, and resource sharing.

Key Highlights

- Expert Speakers: Oncologists, nutritionists, and fitness experts discussed various aspects of cancer prevention and healthy living.

❖ Presentation Technique

Brief report:

A presentation titled "Text and Theory" was delivered at our college, exploring the intersection of textual analysis and theoretical frameworks in academic research.

Objectives

- Textual Analysis: Discuss methods and approaches for analysing texts in various disciplines.
- Theoretical Frameworks: Introduce key theoretical perspectives used in analysing texts, such as structuralism, post-structuralism, and cultural studies.
- Application: Demonstrate how theoretical frameworks can be applied to interpret and critique texts.

Key Points

- Textual Analysis Techniques: Overview of techniques like close reading, discourse analysis, and content analysis.
- Theoretical Perspectives: Introduction to structuralism, post-structuralism, semiotics, feminism, and critical theory in the context of text analysis.
- Case Studies: Analysis of literary texts, media content, and cultural artefacts using different theoretical lenses.
- Implications: Discussion on how theoretical frameworks shape our understanding of texts and influence scholarly discourse.
- Discussion Sessions: Interactive discussions allowed participants to share insights and perspectives.

❖ Online quiz on awareness on Covid:

Brief report

Our college conducted an online quiz on COVID-19 awareness to educate students and staff about the pandemic. The quiz covered topics such as symptoms, prevention measures, and safety protocols. Participants engaged actively, enhancing their knowledge and promoting a better understanding of COVID-19. All the NSS Programme Officers of Jhargram Raj College have been sensitising the NSS Volunteers of their respective units about basics of COVID-19, prevention measures, WHO protocols and government circulars from time to time. To spread COVID-19 awareness, the NSS volunteers have prepared posters, written poems, composed songs and uploaded videos in social media, some of which have already been uploaded in the Official Facebook page and YouTube channel of NSS West Bengal. Through these awareness campaigns, the NSS volunteers have successfully sensitised their family members, friends, relatives and local community about basics of COVID-19 and its prevention measures. Besides this, an Online Quiz on COVID-19 Awareness has also been organised by NSS units of our college to create awareness about COVID-19 among students, NSS Volunteers and general public from 28th May, 2020 to 31st May, 2020. A total of 285 participants from all over West Bengal as well as from other states actively participated in the aforesaid Online Quiz to make it a grand success.

❖ Presentation Techniques

Report:

The Department of English at Jhargram Raj College organized an enlightening seminar titled "Jane Austen and Her World" on April 5, 2019. The seminar aimed to delve into the life, works, and enduring influence of the renowned English novelist, Jane Austen.

The seminar commenced at 11:30 pm with an inaugural address by Amt Ayanti Mondal, who highlighted the significance of Jane Austen's literary contributions and her portrayal of early 19th-century English society. The inaugural session set the stage for an intellectually stimulating day ahead.

Throughout the day, several distinguished speakers and scholars shared their insights through a series of engaging talks and presentations. The topics ranged from the socio-economic backdrop of Austen's novels to the feminist interpretations of her works in contemporary contexts. Each session was well-attended by students, faculty members, and enthusiasts of English literature.

Among the notable speakers was Mrs. Madhumita Biswas. She discussed various aspects of Austen's writing style, character development, and the cultural milieu in which her novels are set. The sessions were interactive, encouraging lively discussions and debates among the participants.

Furthermore, students actively participated in panel discussions and paper presentations, showcasing their research on Jane Austen's novels and their relevance in today's literary landscape. This participation underscored the enduring appeal of Austen's works among young scholars and readers alike.

The seminar concluded with a closing ceremony at 4:00 pm, where Smt Priyanka Basu delivered concluding remarks, emphasizing the enduring relevance of Jane Austen's themes and narratives in contemporary literature and society.

Overall, the seminar on "Jane Austen and Her World" organized by the Department of English at Jhargram Raj College was a resounding success. It provided a platform for scholars, students, and enthusiasts to explore and celebrate the genius of Jane Austen, reaffirming her status as one of the most influential novelists in English literature.

The organizers express their gratitude to all participants, speakers, and attendees for making the seminar a memorable and intellectually enriching event.
